Qualified welders are in high demand nationwide. Improve your skills and become more employable with the Boilermakers Boot Camp Welding Program.

This six-week, intensive welder training program is designed to enhance your welding skills and further your education. The program will be administered by highly-qualified instructors, who have been certified by the Director of National Training Services. All hours earned by apprentices during this training will be applied to their apprenticeship hours.

Students will be trained and tested on various welding processes essential in the Boilermaker trade, including SMAW, FCAW, and GTAW.
